The East's Demon Players Ready for the Intersectional Matches.

DEMPSEY GOOD?—BAH!

Van Court Says Firpo Scrap Was Like a Longshoremen's Brawl

BY DE WITT C. VAN COURT

The recent Dempsey-Firpo brawl, it was nothing else but a brawl, proved that the boxing game has deteriorated about 1000 per cent in the past twenty years. The game has been so commercialized that there is nothing left but the sight of the mighty dollar. No good sportsmanship, no science. Go to any four-round club, sit at the ring-side and watch two novices knock each other down in quick succession and you will at any time see the same jump to their feet in wild excitement. We do not expect the four-rounders to show any great skill. But from a man who has been repeatedly touted as the greatest hitter and greatest fighter of all time, we at least expect not only plenty of class, but good hard hitting, gameness and fairness at all times. The only thing that Jack Dempsey did show was his gameness.

one of the eight arms of the octopus lost some of its tentacles. A fourth flung itself around his left ankle. A few feet away, out of view, a man in a suit, looking at a document, was the first to see the octopus. He was the first to see the octopus. He was the first to see the octopus.

Iris had gone back to her seagleaning. Necessity had made the lady a bread maker. "Fifteen hundred years of philosophy bridged by circumstances," mused Jenks. "How Max Muller would have revelled in the incident!"

Shouldering the ax he walked to the beach. The tide was low and the circular sweep of the reef showed up irregularly, its black outlines sticking out of the vividly green water like jagged teeth. Much debris from the steamer was lying high and dry. It was a sight to make a sailor's heart sick. The sea was a deep cerise, the water was a deep cerise, the water was a deep cerise.

Between the sailor and the tree intervened a small stretch of shallow water. Landward this submerged saddle shelved steeply into the lagoon. The bottom of the cove was twenty fathoms in depth, its crystal clearness was remarkable. The bottom was composed of marvellously white and broken coral, rendered other objects conspicuous. He could see plenty of fish, but not a shark, while on the inner slope of the reef was plainly visible the fore part of the Steamer, which was struck beyond the reef, relatively to his present standpoint. He had wondered why no boats were cast ashore. Now he saw the reason. Three of them were still fastened to the davits and carried down with the hull.

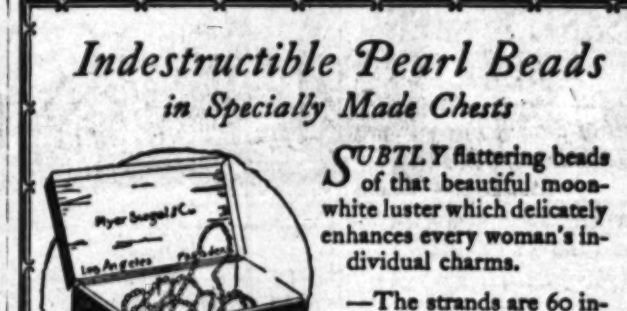

Seward the water was not so clear. The waves created patches of foam, and long submarine plants waved gently in the undercurrent. To reach Palm-tree Rock—anticipating its subsequent name—he must cross a space of some thirty feet and wade up to his waist. He made the passage with ease. Pitched against the bole of the tree was a lone, narrow canoe, heavily iron-clamped and marked with letter in black triangles and the broad arrow of the British government.

"Rifles, by all the gods!" shouted the sailor. They were really by the Enfield Small Arms Manufacturing, but his glee at this stroke of luck might be held to excuse a verbal inaccuracy. The Steamer carried a consignment of arms and ammunition from Hongkong to Singapore. Providence had decreed that the practically inexhaustible store of cartridges should be hurled across the lagoon to the island. And here were Lee-Metford enough to equip half a company. He would not risk the precious ax in an attempt to open the case. He must go for a crowbar.

What else was there in this storehouse thrust by Neptune from the ocean bed? A chest of tools, seemingly undamaged. Three barrels of flour, utterly ruined. A salmon chafin, smashed from its point. A battered chronometer. For the rest, fragments of timber intermingled with pulverized coral and broken crockery.

A little farther on the deep-water entrance to the lagoon curved between sunken rocks. On either side the reef rose in a huge funnel. The northwest section of the reef was bare. Among the wreckage he found a coil of rope and a pulley. He instantly conceived the idea of constructing an aerial line to ferry the chest of tools across the channel he had forced.

He threaded the pulley with rope and climbed the tree, adding a touch of artistic completeness to the ruin of his trousers by the operation. He had fastened the pulley high up the trunk before he realized how much more simple it would be to break open the chest where it lay and transport its contents small parcels. He laughed lightly. "I am becoming addled-headed," he said to himself. "Anyhow, now the job is done I may as well make use of it."

Leg Room when you travel. You will never lament the lack of legroom if you travel by water. Broad, expansive decks, spacious public rooms, yes, and even roomy staterooms provide unlimited legroom—just one of the many distinctive features that make the travel-by-water way different.

"I am a member of that aggregation of community goats sometimes called 'policemen,'" said the chief of Police Vollmer as he concluded to his address given yesterday before the Rotary Club at the Hotel. "I may 'goats' diversely," added the speaker, "for that is what we are. The public demands and expects entirely too much of the policeman, forgetting or ignoring their limitations. The first obstacle that confronts the officer working on a difficult case is to discover a clew to the crime. Criminal persons are unwilling to assist him, either for fear of the criminal or because they think they will have to 'waite' in court."

Another obstacle in the officer's way is the slow procedure of the courts, once the criminal is apprehended and brought to trial. Continued Chief Volmer. "The legislators are partly to blame for this, but the people are to blame for the legislators. Since 1876, when England began to speed up her court procedure, there has been a gradual decrease in major crimes, while in America such as in America such as in California $100,000.00 a year to deal with her criminal element—and we are doing nothing to remedy it."

been an observation that official Washington is obeying the Volstead law.

He digressed a moment to cite a personal instance of one of the highest public men in Washington who has never touched a drop of liquor since the Eighteenth Amendment was passed. "And I might mention other similar cases," he added.

Mr. Ritter, who is a native of Utah, is in California at this time to look into two cases on behalf of the Department of Justice. One concerns the Sun-Maid Raisin Growers' Association and the relations with the Capper-Volstead law passed last year to permit farmers and fruit growers to market their products collectively.

"The Sherman anti-trust law originally prohibited such combinations," he explained, "but prices dropped after the war and the farmers were afraid of bankruptcy. The Capper-Volstead law was passed to enable them to join together for collective marketing that they might obtain better prices. But the government has this check upon them: If, in the opinion of the Secretary of Agriculture, the prices become exorbitant, he can cite the offending growers to show cause why they should not be restrained from continuing that practice."

"It is in this connection that I have come to Los Angeles. So far as I am able to say at this time, however, the raisin growers are staying well within the law. I am here chiefly in an advisory capacity, consulting with the growers upon legal phases of their new organization."

BUILDER'S CASE UP

The other California case engaging Mr. Ritter's attention centers in San Francisco, whence he came here. The San Francisco case involves the Builders' Association and its asserted violation of the anti-trust laws with regard to the purchase of material from firms employing less than 50 per cent of union labor. The San Francisco builders, Mr. Ritter explained, had been accused of virtually boycotting dealers whose labor was more than half union. The Federal government investigated the interstate aspects of the charges and a hearing in the case is set for October 7, in the Bay City.

Mr. Ritter took occasion to deny the recent reports that his chief, Atty.-Gen. Harry M. Daugherty, intended to resign from the Coolidge cabinet. "I know for a fact that Mr. Daugherty does not contemplate any such step in the immediate future," he said.

PIONEER IN EDUCATION HERE DIES

Mrs. Margaret Hyatt Was Formerly Assistant Head of City Schools

Mrs. Margaret Hyatt, one of the pioneers of education in Southern California, died Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. R. H. Williams, in Corona. She was the widow of the late Edward Hyatt, former superintendent of Los Angeles schools. Mrs. Hyatt was 63 years of age, a native of Ohio, and had been engaged in educational work in California with her husband since 1886. She taught school at San Jacinto thirty-five years ago and was for several years Assistant Superintendent of Schools in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Hyatt was the mother of eight children, all living. They are Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Charles Kerr of Los Angeles, Mrs. Stanley Hince of San Jose, Edward Hyatt, a State engineer at Sacramento; Victor Hyatt, a Los Angeles attorney; Miss Antonia Hyatt and Miss Patricia Hyatt of Sacramento, and Mrs. Robert Gardner of Sacramento.

Mrs. Hyatt's death came suddenly in the midst of splendid health. She had been feeling well yesterday morning and died in a few hours. Final arrangements for the funeral have not been made, but interment will be made in the Riverside Cemetery beside the grave of her husband.

Driver Sought After Car Hits Boys and Flees

Police were searching late yesterday for the driver of an automobile which early in the morning struck down and perhaps fatally injured James Moore, 8 years of age, and painfully hurt his brother, Donald, 12. The accident occurred at Borondo street and Santa Monica, Boulevard.

The boys, according to the police report, had shortly before left their home at 1028 North Virgil street to deliver morning newspapers. According to the police, the driver of the automobile failed to give any aid to the injured lads and fled. The boys were picked up by a passing motorist and taken to the Receiving Hospital where Police Surgeon Dodge stated James probably would die from internal injuries. Donald, not so seriously hurt, was sent to his home from the hospital.

Woman Asks Divorce From Handsome Husband Who She Asserts is too Free With Affections

William Ericson is a large, strong, fine-looking man, and when they were married, her cup was running over with happiness, Mrs. Vay Ericson declared in a suit for divorce filed yesterday. But her contentment was not to last long, for in spite of his protestations that she was the only woman in the world, she soon discovered that Ericson had a habit of whispering the same sweet nothings to other women.

received added impetus when a coroner's jury returned a verdict at the inquest that the woman was murdered.

The verdict stated that the woman died of hemorrhage following lacerations of the facial tissues and concussion of the brain due to blows upon the head from a blunt instrument and inflicted by a person or persons unknown, with evident homicidal intent.

"This jury recommends that the case be further investigated and the guilty persons apprehended," the verdict stated.

Witnesses at the inquest, conducted by Deputy Coroner McDonald, included James W. Bass, husband of the dead woman; Mrs. Ida Rutland, her mother; Mrs. Ellen E. Crowder, who found the body; Detective Lieutenant Charles H. Craig, Mr. Cass said he last saw his former wife in April, 1921, at El Centro, where she registered at the El Centro hotel under an assumed name.

WOULD NEVER REMARRY

"She told me she never intended to marry again," he stated, "that she was soon leaving for Alaska or China."

"Whose child was living with her at the time of her death?" he was asked.

"I have assumed the paternity of the child," he replied. "It will be cared for by its grandmother."

He told the jury that in his opinion his former wife was murdered, that "life was too sweet to her to cause her to commit suicide."

Mrs. Crowder, the mother, testified that she last saw her daughter about eighteen months ago.

"I did not know she was in Los Angeles," she said. "About a year and half ago we had a disagreement and she left our house. When I was very ill recently our family searched the West and verified in all the newspapers for her, but she could not be found."

Mrs. Crowder, the mother of the flat in which the crime was committed, told of finding the body of Mrs. Williams. She had seen many men going in and out of her tenant's flat at all hours of the night during the last three months.

POSED AS ACTRESS

"She told me she was a motion-picture actress and her visitors came to the house on business trips," said Mrs. Crowder. "The light in her house was always burning at very late hours."

The landlady told of seeing Bobbie, the baby, in the window. She looked into the window during the day. Once he was drinking milk. She became suspicious and looked into the window. She found the body. Then the police were called.

Mrs. Crowder concluded by expressing an opinion that Mrs. Williams died during a spasm, that while in convulsions she fell and caused the injuries that resulted in the woman's death. But Detective-Lieutenant Craig was insistent that Mrs. Williams was murdered. He told of the bloody hand-prints on the woman's nude back which Mrs. Williams could not have placed there herself. He told of the bloody towel in the bathroom and of his failure to find a trail of blood leading from the body to it.

"She was alive at 3 a. m.," said Detective-Lieutenant Craig. "We have proven that she was at the California Cafe at Fourth and Spring streets about ten hours before she was found. She went to that cafe with a man, remained there forty-five minutes, ate a meal with him and left the cafe with him."

The officer declined to reveal the name of the dead woman's companion on the night of her death.

A dispatch from Buffalo last night said Ethel Williams, or Ethel Chamberlain, was 40 years of age. She was the daughter of Riley C. Chamberlain, an actor formerly with Charles Coghlan. Her parents separated when she was 2 years of age. Her aunt, Mrs. R. C. Chamberlain, brought her up when her parents separated. The aunt heard little from her niece after her divorce, which Mrs. Cass denounced in the late proceedings. In a recent letter, however, she told her aunt she was going to Buffalo.

SAYS SHE BOUGHT OWN WEDDING RING

Mrs. Ross Cooper bought her own wedding ring and then bought the wedding and other in which Abraham D. Cooper married her, she testified yesterday in Judge Leslie R. Hewitt's court, where she obtained a divorce. She was short of funds at the time and needed what money he had to continue his dental studies, she said. She asserted she supported him until he failed to keep up in his class work and complete the course. She declared they came to the parting of the ways when her husband threw an alarm clock and a cast-iron bottle at her. Cooper was not in court, although in answer to her complaint he denied her charges. She was given $50 a month alimony and the custody of the minor child.

Charles C. Dingeldien was arrested yesterday before Justice Forbes on a charge of threatening to kill W. N. Katz. His hearing was set for Wednesday. He was released on $1000 bail. Dingeldien, according to the prosecution, told Katz that he had killed one man "for monkeying with my wife and I'll kill you."

VETERAN ACCUSED OF BIGAMY

Charged With Marrying Minor Lancaster Girl at Bakersfield

Elden C. Smith, 27 years of age, a battle-scarred veteran of the World War, could not resist pretty Marguerite Majoliner, a 15-year-old Lancaster beauty, according to deputy sheriffs, and as a result found himself in a cell at the County Jail yesterday. He is charged with bigamy.

The veteran, it is charged, sloped with his girl to Bakersfield and there married her a few days ago. It is asserted that he has a wife, a death certificate being on file in the county clerk's office at 451 West Twenty-third street.

The asserted elopement with the young girl was made the basis of another charge a few days ago. This is contained in a complaint issued by Justice Buckley of Lancaster and against the veteran of statutory offense against the Majoliner.

Smith, it is charged, married Marguerite Majoliner, a 15-year-old girl, in Bakersfield, after he had been invalidated home from France. They separated in 1921, it is asserted, and Smith went to Los Angeles, where he married the Majoliner.

The complaint charging bigamy was issued a few days ago by Dep. Dist. Atty. Vobayda.

ELEVEN GOLF-COURSE Lots Open for Public Reservation Tomorrow [Original Prices]

VERLOOKING Palos Verdes golf course—and on the broad avenue, Via Campestina, that leads to the club-house site—eleven extraordinarily choice lots will be opened for public reservation Sunday, September 23rd.

These lots have never before been available and are adjacent to the golf course which opens in January. The great demand for this limited property has already absorbed $235,400 worth of it. As an investment or a site for a permanent residence these home-estates should appeal particularly to golfers. Prices range from $2800 to $5000.

No two of these eleven lots are alike. Some are level, others have perfect knolls for building sites and three are made for quaint cottages with hanging gardens.

From every lot there is a superb view. Malaga Cove glistens to the west. North and east, beyond the gray-blue grove of eucalyptus, the lights of a dozen cities twinkle and on clear days the distant mountains of Santa Barbara form a hazy horizon.

We hope you will find unreserved the one lot that you want. There are many splendid lots in Palos Verdes—but these are unusual. We suggest that you telephone our nearest office immediately for an appointment to view these lots.

Reservations are acceptable only Sunday, September 23rd. Original prices prevail for all eleven lots.

Which is the mother? Which is the daughter? James L. Johnson testified yesterday in Judge Summerfield's court that he was always able to tell them apart, although his wife, Hazel Johnson, and his mother-in-law often posed as sisters, cosplayed every night, complained Johnson. "She never was at home tending to business, where she belonged," he testified.

The divorce case was continued for more evidence.

COUNTY FAIR TO HAVE HUGE TENT

Pomona Canvas to be Largest Erected in State

Every Community Will Have Exhibits at Show

Fastest Horses on Coast to Appear in Races

The largest tent ever erected in California will cover the Los Angeles County Fair at Pomona for five days, beginning October 18. Plans have been made to better the unusual exhibition of last year.

All communities in and near Los Angeles have engaged space for exhibits in the agricultural and horticultural departments. Through bond issue, Pomona has raised $75,000, a part of which is being used to construct a building for the women's and art departments.

A remarkable exhibit of the work of California artists is being assembled by T. B. Modra, superintendent of the art department.

MORE POULTRY SPACE

Space has been almost doubled for the poultry show, under direction of Paul E. Kennedy. Last year's show was declared the greatest in the Southwest. Breeders have been doubled since 1932 and birds can be cared for and that late comers will have to be disappointed. Entries are coming in for birds from the Northwest, the South and even from the Middle West and Atlantic seaboard.

A splendid racing program is assured. More than 100 entries have been received for eleven trotting and pacing races, including some of the fastest horses on the Coast. Two or three running races are on the card for each day, as well as two-mile races in which riders change saddles to other horses four times.

Virtually all grand champions in live stock at the recent State Fair have been entered for the live-stock show. The capacity of the barns have been doubled since last year. The entries include an exhibit of purebred draft horses from Ventura county, four six-horse teams decked out in silver-mounted harness and hitched to fine wagons.

FILM HORSES ENTERED

The night horse show includes many entries from Los Angeles. Miss Cecily DeMille has entered horses recently presented to her by her father. These animals were used as the chariot horses of the Pharaoh in "The Ten Commandments."

One of the features of the show will be the Junior Fair, which will be run entirely by boys and girls. They have appointed a board of directors and have a special building at the fair at their disposal. Their exhibits of live stock, poultry, rabbits and agricultural products promise to rival the larger show.

Home Planned for Would-be Screen Sheiks

A combination club and refuge home for boys and young men who find themselves penniless in Hollywood, after failing to break into motion pictures may be erected soon.

Word to this effect was received here from James Morrison, noted player of juvenile roles, now in the East following the completion of "On the Banks of the Wabash." Morrison had long been interested in the establishment of the club. When he went East he got in touch with several men of means who have fostered similar institutions elsewhere and laid the matter before them. Their interest was aroused at once.

Morrison now believes, that with co-operation from some of the producers and directors in Hollywood the club can be made a reality within the next few months.

A home for girls and young women who come to Hollywood seeking fame and fortune, but who go broke before they find jobs, has been in operation for some time. It has proved a haven to scores of girls who otherwise would have no place to go.

It is not intended that the proposed men's club be anything like the nature of a residence for job hunters, but rather as a place where the unfortunate jobless can be taken care of until they hear from their friends.

RECOVERS JEWELRY

Times Advertisement Leads Owner to Finder

Gems valued at several thousand dollars were recovered by Warner Baxter and his wife, Winifred Bryson, motion-picture actors, yesterday, after they had been lost since last Monday, when leather bags containing the jewelry were jolted from an automobile in Culver City. Baxter was taking the jewelry to a bank when the loss occurred. He inserted an advertisement in "The Times," and yesterday was rewarded by telephone call from Mrs. Grace Ransom of Culver City, who notified Mr. Baxter that she had found the bag and the jewelry lying beside the road.

End Corns

Plans have been completed and rights of way obtained for widening the road near Montebello to fifty-six feet. The county has appropriated its share of the expense and the work will proceed as soon as possible.

Plans for the Coast road from the city limits to the beach at Coronado Del Mar are progressing rapidly and it is expected that bids will be called for about the middle of October.

SEVENTY YEARS OF FELICITY

Couple Celebrate Three-score and Ten of Happy Married Life

Illustration on Facing Page

Back in the little town of Warren, O., Sept. 29, 1863, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse R. Penny were married "for better or for worse." Thirtysix years later, sitting beside three other generations and surrounded by a host of friends in Patriotic Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Penny celebrated their seventieth wedding anniversary. They were the most jovial couple present.

As part of the reception given by Helen G. Christie, Tent No. 17 of the Daughters of Veterans, Judge Eugene Tucker, friend for many years of the aged couple, told of his intimate acquaintance with them. And among many other things, he recalled the distinguished service of Mr. Penny in the Civil War, shortly after the close of which he was married. There were music and singing, telegrams and flowers arrived by the score.

Mr. Penny is in his ninety-second year. Mrs. Penny is her eighty-ninth. Seated with them were their daughter, Mrs. Elma Gesslin; Mrs. Gesslin's daughter, Mrs. Florence Dudley, and her son, Harold Dudley, five months.

"I still have most of this life," Mr. Penny said. "I can say concerning that is, I was always busy." So spoke Mr. Penny, in for birds from the Northwest, the South and even from the Middle West and Atlantic seaboard. I still have most of this life," he smiled and continued: "Mrs. Penny and I have had a long, long journey. We're comfortable now but we have seen the time when all we had for our meals was potatoes."

METHOD OF DRY FARMS IS OPPOSED

Soil Expert Sees Need of More Irrigation and Less Cultivation

Opposition to dry farming methods of many Western farmers was expressed by Prof. T. J. Velmeyer, of the University of California, yesterday's session of the Western Society of Soil Management at the University of Southern California.

Prof. Velmeyer stressing the need for more irrigation and less cultivation, said the result of experiments by investigators indicated that the upward movement of moisture from soil is extremely slight in amount and extent.

Prof. O. W. Israelson, vice-president of Utah Agricultural College, led a discussion on general problems of soil moisture as it related to farming. Yesterday's sessions concluded the annual business meetings of the society. Officers elected for the year were: Dr. A. E. Vinson, University of Arizona, president; Prof. W. L. Towers, Oregon Agricultural College, vice-president; and Dr. D. E. Jennings, Utah Agricultural College, secretary-treasurer. Members of the society will visit the citrus experimental station at Riverside today.

Ohioan Arrives on Long Hike to Legion Meeting

Anthony E. Broom, former service man of Cincinnati, who left the city last August en route on foot to the national convention of the American Legion in San Francisco starting October 15, has arrived in Los Angeles on the last leg of his journey. Mr. Broom said he is a champion heel and toe pedestrian in the East and expects to represent his native state in athletic events at the Legion meeting. Cost of the trip is defrayed from money obtained by appearing in athletic contests at towns on the route. Mr. Broom said.

The most exciting, and almost fatal, experience on his expedition through thirteen states, the bronzed ex-service man said, was when he was lost for five days without food or water in the desert between Tonopah and Bishop Nev. Outside of that he says he recommends walking for health.

State Takes Up Plan to Widen Whittier Road

W. W. Patch, division engineer of the State Highway Commission, yesterday began an investigation with a view to the improvement of Whittier Boulevard and the removal of conditions unfavorable to traffic, particularly in winter. Rights of way involving condemnation proceedings are required to widen the highway and considerable drainage will be necessary. The county administration and the Whittier Chamber of Commerce are co-operating with the commission.

Cloud-Burst in Arizona Delays Mail From East

There has been a serious delay of transcontinental mails coming West over Santa Fe lines, and five cars of mail were due to arrive at Los Angeles this morning. The first interruption was caused by a cloud-burst on the desert between Winslow and Flagstaff, Ariz., this morning.

The result of the morning's rain was that the mail cars were delayed over the Southern Pacific in Deming and thence to Phoenix. Then followed a wreck at Wickenburg, Ariz., and two storage mail cars were turned over.

The result of these mishaps was that there has been no mail received from the East over the Santa Fe for three days. It is expected that the winter mail trains this morning there will be no further delay.

CHIEF VOLLMER TO PREACH

Police Department Head Will Beard Theological "Lion" in His Den; Public Invited

Certain ministers of Los Angeles recently had not a little to say concerning the lack of idealism in the local police department. It will be interesting to note whether Chief of Police Vollmer's description of "The Ideal Preacher as a Police Officer" has been taken as a challenge by a considerable number of the local clergy. Chief Vollmer will discuss "The Ideal Preacher" in a brief sermon at the Westlake Presbyterian Church tomorrow evening and he will be followed by Rev. G. A. Briggs, who will tell of a "Preacher Who Could Not Be Trusted in the Dark."

Tomorrow morning the pastor and congregation of the Westlake Church will celebrate Rally Day and prepare for the new year's work. Dr. Briggs will preach on "Everybody Starts and Nobody Quits."

"THE KU KLUX KLAN" "Who, What and Why are Gov. Walton, Oklahoma and the Ku Klux Klan? These questions will be discussed at length by Rev. Bob Shuler in his sermon on "My Salvation and My Country," to be preached tomorrow evening at the Trinity Methodist Church, Taveling and Flower streets. The morning house the speaker will be Rev. S. H. Werlein, presiding elder of the Los Angeles district, who will preach on "What Good Does the Church Do, Anyway?"

"THE GREATEST DOCUMENT" Next Wednesday evening members of the First Baptist Church will meet at the church, to select an assistant pastor for Rev. James A. Francis, according to announcement made yesterday. Tomorrow morning Dr. Francis will preach "The Baptist Message to the World," the topic for evening being "How Much of an Angel in Practice is the Grace of God?"

"IS THE BIBLE TRUE?" William J. Bryan will be the speaker at the Immanuel Presbyterian Church, 1111 West 11th street, his subject being: "Is the Bible True?" In the evening Rev. Herbert Booth Smith will discuss the questions: "Has Geology Disproved the Bible?" and "Is the Creation Story a Myth?" Dr. Smith will quote the views of many scientists to prove that the antiquity of man is not as great as was formerly supposed.

BYRON TO SPEAK Rev. W. P. Nicholson, famous evangelist, will be the speaker tomorrow morning and evening at the Church of the Open Door, Bible Institution, 1111 West 11th street.

"WHAT IS CHRISTIANITY?" Does paying and praying and going to church regularly make a person a Christian? Can one be entirely outside the church and be a Christian? Does a person need to believe that God made the world in six days to be a Christian? What is Christianity? These questions will be discussed by Rev. J. A. Ely in a sermon tomorrow morning at the Wilshire Presbyterian Church. A feature of the evening service will be the showing of the picture "Trail of the Lonesome Pine."

TO DISCUSS MORMONISM "One of the tragedies of the hour is the misunderstanding of the Christian. The right conception of Him is the only hope of the solution to our individual and national problems." That is the subject voiced yesterday by Rev. W. Howard Fagan, pastor of the Wilshire Boulevard Presbyterian Church, who will preach tomorrow morning on "The Christ We Need to Know." The subject for evening is "A Trip to Salt Lake City and My Impressions of Mormonism."

"A STRANGE CORONATION" The Immanuel Male Quartet, which recently returned from a concert tour, will give a program of songs at the First Methodist Church tomorrow evening.

E. E. Helms, the pastor, will preach on "The Stirring Story of a Strange Coronation." At 9:30 a.m. tomorrow graduation exercises for members of the Sunday-school classes will be conducted, and at 11 a.m. the church expects to represent his native state in athletic events at the Legion meeting. Cost of the trip is defrayed from money obtained by appearing in athletic contests at towns on the route. Mr. Broom said.

NEW STORE IS TRIUMPH OF BUILDER

Harmony and Balance Give Restful Effect in Interior of Shoe Shop

BY OLIVE GRAY

A sense of harmony and graceful balance in construction and in furnishings greets one upon the entrance to Guide's new store, opened yesterday at 625 West Seventh street.

The broad facade, the spacious arcades at the doorway, the wide aisles in the sale salons, the quaint galleries, surrounding the store, the deep mezzanine, at the rear with its generous staircase, all seem part of an architectural symphony. An adaptation of the best period in Italian artistry in the fittings, and furnishings produces an effect of chaste elegance, restful and inspiring. The windows and the woodwork throughout the store are in finest Italian style, with the wall panels, the Italian grill work in all hand-drawn and it is the proud boast of the architect, J. R. Fell, that everything used is the product of Los Angeles establishments.

The lighting fixtures are of Italian wrought-iron, brass and copper, and the colorings are shown in shades of gray not usually associated with shoe stores. The inverted bowls are of a color producing an effulgence like filtered sunlight. The furniture, Italian in feeling, is of walnut, upholstered in Italian blue velvet, the carpets are of blue and taupe chenille, laid upon floors of pink Tennessee marble. A corner nookery is furnished with writing desks and other conveniences for patrons. Of exceptional beauty is the marquise at the entrance, and the twin display niches, spotlighted for showing the newest of shoes and hosiery, are distinctive.

The latest creations in footwear for evening and for daytime are housed here and many novel fads are observed. A wealth of rich brocades in silver, gold and chromatic colorings are shown while much that is new in the popular browns and coons shades for street and sports use is seen. The entire mezzanine is devoted to the shoe and a special section is given to hosiery for all occasions. The Guide policy will be continued, that of offering the finest of footwear at moderate prices.

Yesterday the store was fairly crowded with guests paying friendly greetings and was adorned with flowers such as orchids, gladioli, calla lilies and gerberas. A luncheon meeting of the business at 127-137 South Broadway, which store will be maintained.

Dudley, 46-year-old night watchman. Dudley is under arrest here on charges of burglary and grand larceny growing out of an investigation conducted by Detective Sergeants Frank Gleason and R. A. Radtke.

Dudley was arrested while employed as night watchman in the Pacific-Southwest Bank Building, the upper floor of which are occupied by doctors, dentists and attorneys' offices. From these places, police say, Dudley stole several thousand dollars worth of dental gold, surgical and dental instruments, jewelry, watches and many other articles. An almost equal amount of similar plunder was asserted to have been obtained by Dudley while he was employed as a watchman at the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank Building.

Dudley's arrest grew out of the asserted theft of a single gold crown which a dentist in the Pacific-Southwest Building had made for Detective Sergeant Malcolm Kirkpatrick. When the officer returned to the dentist's office several days ago to have the crown fitted, the dentist confessed that the crown had been stolen and he would have to make another one. This theft led to the investigation which unearthed the more than two automobile loads of loot found in Dudley's room.

Trunks and chests, suit cases and traveling bags, all packed to capacity with stolen articles, were found in Dudley's room at 448 Locust avenue, police declare. It was said this afternoon that police were looking for a woman accomplice who, it is asserted, would visit Dudley at the building where the loot was found. The woman was not for them. Rather they were looking for the safety deposit vaults of the great banks to be

BYRON TO SPEAK TODAY William Jennings Bryan, first Secretary of State in the Wilson Cabinet, will discuss the Constitution at the luncheon meeting of the City Club today. The meeting is one of several which have marked the observance in Los Angeles of Constitution Week, which closes today.

Debs Cheerful in Confab With Newspapermen

Eugene V. Debs, five times a candidate for the presidency on the Socialist ticket and five times in jail, entertained newspaper men and others with comments on many matters at his room at the Stewart Hotel yesterday.

Mr. Debs is to give an address at Bell's Zoo Sunday afternoon. He is on the Coast in the interest of the "cause," as he refers to it. Incidentally, he confided that if the Socialists should see fit to nominate him for president next year for the sixth time, he wouldn't refuse the nomination, but he didn't display any undue enthusiasm in discussing this subject.

Debs is as genial as ever. He looks well and exhibits remarkable energy for a man of his years. He is glad to see everybody, loves the whole world and says he was not averse to go to jail for the "cause," though he admits he doesn't like jail. He paid his respects to William Jennings Bryan, referring, among other things, to the Commener's attitude on evolution.

"I am sure if Darwin could have foreseen that a man like Bryan would challenge his teachings he would never have written 'The Origin of Species,'" he concluded whimsically.

Debs spoke freely of his experience at Atlanta.

"When I was entered among the thousands of prisoners at the Federal penitentiary I made up my mind to do one thing while in there—the warden I don't know what consideration might be said."

He referred with some demonstration to his tertiary inmate picture where he was seen sitting under a tree.
